newspapers in it of a date as late as March 1840.

Birds, Animals, Insects &c from New Holland. There were few labels on any of the specimens, from what few there were, this is evident to see the abstractness of some of the original not only of the Box. for instance. One label called for "two Salus Birds, male & female;" when there was but one, and another label for three males of the same bird when there were but two. There was two female? Mountain Pheasant but no male.

Insects had made serious incursions into many of the specimens and generally the skins are badly put up.
